The independent guide to the referendum on blasphemy

This guide is written for people with an intellectual disability

Introduction

Dear Voters,

On Friday, 26th October 2018 you will be asked to vote on two things

You will have the chance to vote in an election to choose a president.

You will also be able to vote in a referendum.

This information is about the referendum.

A referendum is a vote to change the constitution of Ireland.

The constitution of Ireland sets out the rules of the country.

This referendum asks:

Would you like to change the constitution so the rules about blasphemy in Ireland can be changed?

Blasphemy is being very insulting or abusive about things which are sacred to a religion, and deliberately hurting the feelings of people who follow that religion.

The Referendum Commission gives you information about what your vote will mean.

The Referendum Commission does not tell you to vote yes or no.

You can vote yes or no using your ballot paper.

It is up to you how to vote.

It is important to vote.

The constitution belongs to you.

You can help decide whether to change the constitution or not.

Make sure your voice is heard by voting on Friday, 26th October 2018.

All the votes are counted at the end of the day.

The constitution changes if most people vote YES.

The constitution stays the same if most people vote NO.

Isobel Kennedy
Chairperson
Referendum Commission

The Constitution of Ireland sets out the rules of the country.

This referendum asks you to vote about changing a rule.

This rule is about what people can say or publish about a religion.

Publishing includes writing something in a newspaper, magazine or on the internet.

Blasphemy is about being very insulting or abusive about things which are sacred to a religion.

Blasphemy is a crime.

If it is proved that someone is guilty of blasphemy, they might have to pay a lot of money.

The referendum asks if you would like to change what Article 40.6.1 says in the constitution.

Blasphemy in Ireland now:

The constitution says that blasphemy is a crime.

In Ireland, someone can not say or publish something very insulting about a religion, and deliberately hurt people who follow that religion.

This is breaking the law. They could be fined €25,000.

Nobody has been punished for blasphemy for a very long time. (More than 150 years)

The proposed change to Article 40.6.1

The proposal is to take the word blasphemy out of the Constitution so that blasphemy won't be a crime anymore.

What will happen if most people vote yes?

If most people vote yes to this referendum, the rules in the constitution about blasphemy will change.

Politicians will be able to change the law that makes blasphemy a crime.

What will happen if most people vote no?

If most people vote no to this referendum, the rules will stay the same.

The constitution will not change.

Blasphemy will still be a crime.

Some things will stay the same, whether most people vote yes or no.

It will still be against the law to publish things which encourage people to hate other people.

How to vote

Polling stations open all day (from 7 in the morning to 10 at night)

Voting in the presidential election will take place on the same day as voting in the referendum.

You will be given two ballot papers to use.

The white ballot paper is for the presidential election. This will have the names of people who would like to be President of Ireland.

The green ballot paper is for the referendum.

This will have boxes marked YES and NO

You can vote in the referendum by marking an 'X' in the YES box or the NO box.

Only mark one box.

Do not mark any other part of the ballot paper.
