INTERNAL DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROCEDURES

Dear Member

It is hoped, and expected, that the vast majority of issues and queries raised by the members about the National Federation of Voluntary Service Providers' Pension & Life Assurance Scheme (the Scheme) will be resolved in an informal manner. However, in case there is an issue which cannot be resolved informally, the following Internal Dispute Resolution (IDR) Procedures can help resolve the issue in an equitable and straightforward manner.

All pension schemes must have an Internal Dispute Resolution (IDR) Procedure, under the Pensions Act (as amended).

The purpose of having an IDR is to give people, who believe they may have suffered financial loss as a result of mal-administration of the Scheme, a way to raise the issue formally with the Trustees.

This IDR involves a number of prescribed steps:

1. You submit a written note to the Trustees setting out your details and a statement on the nature and grounds for the complaint, with supporting documentation (if any).
2. The Trustees can (but do not have to) appoint an Investigator to examine the issue and provide a written report.

3. The Trustees consider the complaint, any other relevant details, and, if applicable, the Investigator's report.
4. The Trustees then make a decision and notify you of their decision. The decision must be made and notified within 3 months of the Trustees receiving the complaint.
5. If you are not satisfied with the decision you can refer the matter to the Financial Services and Pensions Ombudsman.
